Free Enterprise Provides the Opportunity for Prosperity

Government can never create prosperity. It can only create conditions in which people and organizations can be prosperous. It is not the role of government to create prosperity; it is the role of government to allow prosperity. Our founding fathers had the visionary wisdom to recognize that it is not government, but private businesses and individuals that are the driving force in a stable and prosperous economy. Their wisdom has created the 235 year economic success story that we call the United States of America.
